Camping in a Winter Wonderland

On Nov. 22 several members of the Drayton Valley Junior Wardens went winter camping and The Western Review dropped out to see how they were doing. Here is what we found.

Slip-slidin' a wintery day away.

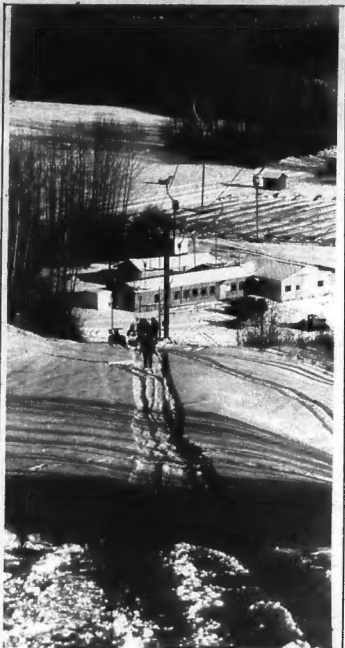

Warm boots are essential when winter camping and so is a change of liners, right fella?

What are you crazy? We're not really sleeping here tonight?

The older forest wardens prepare their camp before venturing out to plot and plan the wilderness north of Drayton Valley.

Look waaay down

Although there has been a fair amount of snow lately the Drayton Valley ski hill has been idle, except, of course, for the ever-diligent workers getting it ready for opening day.

Hoflin escapes serious injury

By Bernice Johnson
388-3863

It was another cold year for the Remembrance Day parade. Carrying the flags were Morris Dunn and Lloyd Alecock for the Legion and Lois Robinson and Connie MacLean for the ladies auxiliary, followed by the Brownies and leaders.

Pastor Don Harrison of the Covenant Church conducted the services. Wreaths were laid by Roy Parker for the Legion and Betty Simpson for the auxiliary. A large crowd enjoyed the dinner prepared by the ladies auxiliary.

The Ross Memorial award was presented to Colleen Siegel who is continuing her education at Nait. Rex Siegel accepted the award on her daughter's behalf.

Sympathy is extended to Mary and Ross Larson and family on the sudden death of her mother, Eunice Walsh of Edmonton on Nov. 15.

Alder Flats News

Dale Hoflin escaped serious injury recently. He was underneath a construction loader, servicing it, when the operator, unawares, started the machine and ran over Hoflin's right leg. Although badly bruised, no bones were broken.

Carol Clemmer is enrolled in the RNA course at the Drayton Valley hospital. Clemmer was one of 10 women accepted for the course.

Sixteen youth enjoyed rides and swimming at West Edmonton Mall on Nov. 10. Chaperones from the Covenant Church were Eva Drader, Brenda Hoflin, Ruth Kofod and Pastor Don Harrison.

The adult fellowship group of the Covenant Church enjoyed bowling and refreshments later at the home of Duane and Brenda Hoflin Nov. 8.

Congratulations to Jeanie Elder who won the $100 grocery gift certificate draw Nov. 17 at the Lucky Dollar store.

Sherry Hoflin's friend, Sherien from Hong Kong, spent a weekend at the Hoflin home. Sherien is now attending Red Deer College after spending a few months in her homeland.

Don and Ruth Cook are enjoying balmy weather at their home in Arizona. They left here the first part of November. Marni Jocquest has taken up residence in the Cook home during their absence.

Bingo night has been changed from Monday to Tuesday evenings and will be held at the Alder Flats Legion the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m.

Presented 12-page booklet

Prompt action needed to preserve the energy sector

Alberta Premier Don Getty presented a publication entitled Canada's Energy Future: Action Today for a Secure Tomorrow during his opening statement in the First Ministers' Conference in Vancouver.

He called for prompt national action to preserve and stimulate Canada's energy sector.

The 12-page booklet clearly explains to Canadians why Canada is at an energy crossroads. At stake if Canada does not develop new sources of domestic crude oil supply are jobs, new technology and security of oil supply.

In tabling it, Premier Getty restated the unanimous position the provinces took at the annual premiers' conference in Edmonton that "...the problems facing Canada's oil and gas industry are national in scope. They require a national solution."

The premier pointed out that since the collapse of world oil prices in late 1985, investment in the energy sector has been slashed almost in half by $4.5 billion. This could mean a loss in Alberta of 25,000 jobs this year with estimates that the total may climb to 50,000.

He emphasized the industry downturn has been felt across Canada as thousands of Canadians continue to lose their jobs. New energy projects would bring economic growth to those regions currently suffering the slowest growth and highest unemployment in Canada.

Premier Getty highlighted a disturbing trend that threatens Canada's security of oil supply. In just four years, Canada could be importing one-quarter of its oil needs. Unless investments are made now in the oil sands in Alberta, heavy oil upgraders in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and new fields such as Hibernia off Newfoundland and the Beaufort Sea in the north, Canada — by year 2,000, may be importing half of its oil requirements.

Alberta has sustained the momentum on some of the projects. In the past year, the province has announced initiatives totalling $1.8 billion. Alberta has done its best but it alone cannot assure a healthy energy future for Canada.

National action to respond to the energy situation could include federal tax changes that would see the industry treated at least as favorably as the mining sector, and federal fiscal policy that recognizes the unique risks and capital requirements of the industry.

Copies of Canada's Energy Future: Action Today for a Secure Tomorrow are available from: Communications, Alberta Federal and Intergovernmental Affairs, 12th Floor, South Tower, 10030-107 St., Edmonton, AB

Tips for trimming the Christmas tree...

As a follow-up to last week's column, here is more information on Christmas trees.

Stringing the lights

A rule of thumb for the number of lights to string is three times the height of the tree, times the width is equal to the number of standard-sized bulbs required (4 x height x width (or mini-bulbs).

Before you put your lights on your tree, inspect the strands to be sure there are no exposed wires or frayed insulation. Watch for broken sockets and plugs, too. DO NOT USE CANDLES.

Tree lights should not touch the tree branches and should never be left on when no one is home nor when everyone is in bed for the night. Christmas lights draw little energy (a two-week display uses enough power to cook a Christmas goose), but you can save even more by using 2.5 watt mini-bulbs rather than seven-watt bulbs.

By Joan Heath

Trimming the tree
Follow a pattern if you wish, but don't have the tree looking cluttered. Be sure the tinsel doesn't get caught in bulb sockets. Don't hang flammable ornaments too closely to lights.

For an old-fashioned look, string popcorn, use red and green paper chains, pine cones, ribbon bows, little toys, gilded nuts. Don't forget the stand — cover it with an attractive tree skirt.

Another fire precaution — don't set up trains or other electrical toys near the tree. Dismantling and discarding the tree

Start by spreading a large plastic throw cloth around the tree to catch falling needles (use the type of throw used for covering furniture when painting). Next year, remember to put the plastic cloth under the tree before you begin to decorate and then fold it in closer to the tree and cover it with a tree skirt. It also protects your carpet from water spills when you water your tree.

Have boxes ready to put ornaments in when you dismantle the tree. Boxes with corrugated dividers are good as are egg cartons for small breakables. Clean the ornaments (if need be) now instead of next year when you put the tree up.

Courses as a gift idea

If you have a farmer on your Christmas list and you don't know what to buy, consider giving a gift of knowledge and information.

For about $30 you can bring to the comfort of his home office the latest professional and technical advice available on any one of a dozen topics involving agriculture.

The gift is one or more of the Alberta Agriculture home study courses which cover subjects from crop inspection to farm estate planning. Each course comes in a three-ring binder packaged in an easy-to-wrap box.

The courses, usually split into eight chapters, are geared to lead a farmer or the farm family through the particular subject, step-by-step. Written in understandable terms, the information was prepared under the direction of the department's professional and technical staff.

Because there is no

deadline to complete the program, all course participants can work at their own pace. Most chapters have a quiz at the end to help in reviewing the information and some have an optional final exam that can be written to obtain a certificate.

Pat Davidson, coordinator of the home study program with the department in Edmonton, says winter is usually a good time to start a course because the pace around many farming operations has slowed.

Among the courses offered through the home study program are crop protection, animal health, forage, weed control, irrigation management, cattle nutrition, soils, home planning, farm computers, dairy production and pork production.

Exchange of ideas, discussion at leaders' conference

By Janet Van Rosael
Regional 4-H Specialist
Forty-seven leaders of the northwest region joined other leaders from across the province to participate in the 46th annual leaders conference held in Calgary Nov. 7-9.

Alberta leaders were joined by members of the Alberta 4-H council, 4-H Foundation of Alberta and out-of-province leaders from Montana, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Yukon Territories.

It was an excellent chance to exchange ideas and discuss similar problems. It was a weekend full of fun and learning for everyone involved. The sessions included: Enjoying 10-14 year olds - A Cooperative Venture; Communication Skills: Tapping Your 4-H Potential; 4-H From a Member's Point of View; Meetings, High or Dry; Learning Can Be Fun; 4-H in the Future; and a special presentation on "reaching new heights."

For those leaders who were not fortunate enough to participate in the great event, you will have every opportunity to get involved next year. Yes, we of the northwest region are hosting no other than the 47th annual leaders conference, to be held at the Convention Inn South in Edmonton Nov. 20-22, 1987.

It is time to start thinking about that time next year as there is a lot of planning that has to go into it to make it a successful conference. Tradition has it at these conferences, that the region who is to host the next conference is expected to put on a little skit, or song to let everyone know they are ready to be the new hosts.

Therefore, on Saturday afternoon, all the leaders from the northwest region gathered in a room and started to brainstorm. In record time, a song was written to express the thoughts of all present and a practice session was held and everyone contributed their voices and Zoltan Liba of Genesee contributed his accordion music.

Another last-minute trial was held with 40 some leaders crowded in a small hotel room and the sound was beautiful. Following is the song our great talented leaders from the northwest region sang to the whole crowd at the end of the closing ceremonies Sunday, Nov. 9.

*We are brave, we are bold,
We are 100 years old and the 4-H goes rolling along.*

*Chorus:
For it's Hi Hi He, we're off to victory
Stand up and give us a cheer
For it's you and me, in Edmonton we'll be
and the 4-H goes rolling along.*

*Check it out, check it out,
see what we are all about
and the 4-H goes rolling along.*

*along.
Give a cheer, give a cheer,
Our region's in full gear
and the 4-H goes rolling along.
Chorus*

Congratulations to a job well done!
To learn more about this conference from any of the leaders who attended, contact the Regional 4-H office at 874-8248; call now to find out more for next year.

Christmas party set for December 17

The Moon Lake Thimbles will hold their Christmas party on Dec. 17. At a recent meeting, the Thimbles received a few more books, a calendar and 4-H personal diary. And, Nicki Baumann is the new club historian.

Around the Province

Civilian patrols
Ponoka businessman Bryan Corkery is calling for civilian patrols of town streets to prevent a rash of burglaries. Corkery's drug store has been robbed four times. One of the problems is the size of their RCMP detachment. They only have six members. Mayor Norm Nelson plans to discuss the matter with the RCMP before taking any action.

College deficit
Red Deer College could run up an overall $112,000 operating deficit this year because of their new $15.2 million arts centre. It will be their first budget deficit in more than a decade.

Sunday opening
Consumers in Red Deer would welcome seven day shopping. Results of a survey show 50 per cent of Red Deer shoppers favor all week shopping. The survey also revealed that shoppers felt the provincial government should keep out of the issue and allow the industry to regulate its own hours.

Lagoon approved
A proposed engineering plan to upgrade the sewage lagoon system and eliminate the distinct foul odor, is being considered by Rocky Mountain House town council. Council is now calling for tenders to improve the lagoon design.

Champion on track
The proposed $300 million expansion of Champion Forest Products (Alberta) Ltd. in Hinton is still on track. Currently, a $3 million feasibility study is underway, however, a decision on the actual expansion has run into the problem of a rail freight rate which is considered too high.

New plant
Shell Canada plan to build a $40 million sulphur plant. The company proposes to re-open two capped wells with extremely high sulfur gas content in the Sundre area for use at the nearby plant. For the first time in Alberta, a plant will be built to produce sulphur directly from a sulfur gas well.

CCA shopping quiz — know your rights

Here is the Consumer and Corporate Affairs' annual Christmas shopping quiz. Give it a try and see if you can answer these frequently-asked questions.

1. You put a deposit on a sweater for your girlfriend. She doesn't like it but the store won't return your deposit. Can they do this legally?

The store doesn't have to return your deposit unless it's their policy to do so, but you could inquire whether they would be willing to allow the deposit to go toward the purchase of another item.

2. You receive a skirt that doesn't fit. The store doesn't have one like it in your size. Although you have the sales receipt, the store won't return the money. Can the store refuse to give a refund?

The store isn't required to give a refund unless it's their policy to do so. You could try to exchange the skirt for something else or ask the merchant to give you a credit voucher.

3. You see an advertisement for food processors at an incredibly low price. When you get to the store, the only one they had is sold and the clerk tries to sell you a much more expensive model. Is it legal for the store to do this?

A company must have a "reasonable number" of items in stock or they must state the number available in the advertisement. By trying to sell you the more expensive model, the merchant may be using "bait and switch" sales tactics which contravene the Unfair Trade Practices Act.

4. You purchase a hot tub for a family Christmas gift. Later, you find out the hot tub will not arrive until mid-January. Can you cancel the contract?

No. You cannot cancel the contract unless you have written delivery and installation dates into the contract.

5. If a product is for sale at a price well below the manufacturer's suggested retail price, is it a good buy?

Not necessarily. The best way to ensure you are getting a good price is to shop comparatively.

6. When you receive a present you do not like, do you have the right to demand the store exchange the gift?

No. The store is neither obligated to exchange the gift nor to refund the purchase price of the gift.

7. You sign a contract to buy some exercise equipment from a direct seller in your home. The next day you see the same equipment for $40 less. Can you cancel the contract?

Yes. The provisions of the Direct Sales Cancellation Act allow you to cancel your contract within four days of receiving a copy of the contract if the sale was made in your home. Send or deliver a letter cancelling the contract to the company and contact our nearest regional office.

8. In the Christmas rush, you discover your credit card has been stolen. Worse yet, $300 has been charged to your account. Are you responsible for these charges?

Yes. You are responsible for a maximum of $50 worth of charges made on your account without your permission. Credit card agreements vary so check yours to see what it says. You are required to notify the credit card company within a reasonable time after you realize your card is lost or stolen.

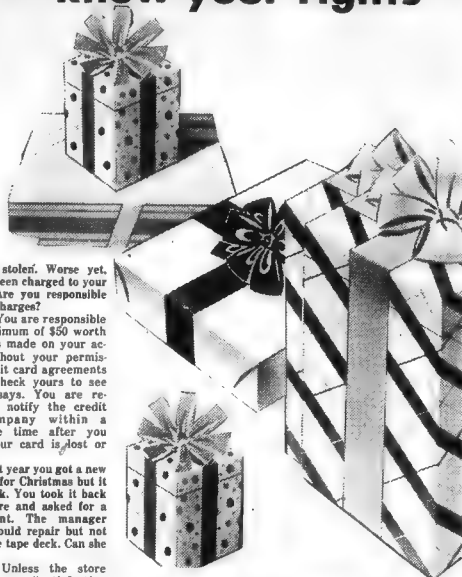

9. Last year you got a new tape deck for Christmas but it didn't work. You took it back to the store and asked for a replacement. The manager said he would repair but not replace the tape deck. Can she do that?

Yes. Unless the store advertises a "satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded" policy, its only obligation is to repair your tape deck. If it can't be repaired properly, then the store is obliged to replace it.

10. You bought a pullover for your boyfriend a couple of days ago. Today, you see it at the same store for $15 less. You ask the manager to refund the $15; he refuses. Is he required to refund the money?

No. The store is not required to refund the $15.

Websters enjoyed working together

By Donna Haukedal

Gordon and Jean Webster were both in their seventies when they left Ontario to start a new farming venture in Alberta, northwest of Evansburg.

Jean was born in Alliston, Ont. in 1905. She has many happy childhood memories of growing up in a large house on top of a hill on a big farm. She can remember the doctor coming down the lane in a horse and buggy when her brother Allen was born.

Jean enjoyed school and completed high school as well as extra courses in 11 years. She then took a commercial course finishing highest in her class with 95 per cent. Field Day was another of her interests and had her name put on a shield as highest achiever. Jean also qualified as a secretary for the school principal.

Jean came from a musical family. Her father played the violin and trumpet, her mother the piano. Jean also studied piano. She remembers her father reading poetry and she still loves poetry.

Before marriage, Jean took courses in home nursing and home economics. It was while judging activities at school she met her husband Gordon, also a judge.

Gordon was born in Creemore, Ont. where his father farmed. Gordon was enrolled in agriculture for two years at the University of Guelf.

They were married in 1938 and following the death of Gordon's brother in a shooting accident, the couple took over the Webster farm at Creemore.

Jean and Gordon Webster

"25 cents a bushel"

They worked together on the farm and at outside jobs. They enjoyed picking apples on a nearby farm. At first they got 25 cents per hamper (more than a bushel). They laughed as they recalled when Jean fell from the ladder and landed on Gordon's head. "We laughed so hard we could hardly go on picking," said Jean.

They also worked part-time on a tobacco farm for 12 years.

Sir Frederick Banting, of Banting and Best (the men who discovered insulin), was Jean's uncle. The old piano now in the Webster's home was a gift from him. An uncle of Gordon's was dean of a dental college in Toronto.

The Websters had four children, but lost a little girl at the age of seven months. Their children are all musical and all took part in school bands.

Jean and Gordon sold the farm after their children were grown and the sons had gone to other jobs. They later decided farming was what they wanted to do. Meanwhile, daughter Marion and husband decided to move west. The family, except son Francis, packed up their belongings and moved to Alberta in 1978. "I couldn't live without our family," Jean said.

On the trip out, Gordon lost his wallet with a lot of money in it, at a place they had stopped for the night. The man finding it was able to catch up to them and return it.

They brought their flock of sheep from Ontario and for as long as they were able, Gordon and Jean looked after them.

The Websters are now retired but still live on the farm with their sons and families nearby. They return to Ontario once a year to visit family and friends.

Jean was interviewed last year by a Toronto television station. She was asked about Sir Frederick Banting and about their lives since moving to Alberta.

They are members of the United Church. While still in Creemore Jean taught Sunday school for 25 years, and 10 years in Alliston prior to that. Both are involved with the senior citizens. Jean enjoys pottery and making quilts.

"We never had much money, but we've had a very interesting life together," she said.

They have 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

People encouraged to express their views at forum

On Wednesday, Dec. 3 the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation will be holding a producer forum in Drayton Valley.

As many producers will recall from the speech from the throne of this year, a promise was made to review the role and mandate of ADC.

This summer a committee of producers and MLAs was struck to conduct the review. Farm organizations, interested individuals, companies and agribusiness are encouraged to submit briefs expressing their viewpoints at this public forum.

Many producers are directly involved with ADC either through direct loans or ADC guaranteed loans from the bank. Some producers or potential producers not currently involved may become involved as they expand, turn their farms over or enter farming for the first time.

In varying degrees all farmers and agribusiness are affected by the policies and decisions of ADC. This is your opportunity to have direct input into ADC policy.

The primary objective will be "to review the role and mandate of the ADC to ensure appropriate agricultural financing and lending needs of Alberta's agricultural industry are best accommodated." The review committee hopes to suggest changes where appropriate.

ADC came into existence in 1972 in part as a response to declining net farm income at the time. It was also to address the problem of the declining strength of the family farm. We are once again at a point where net farm income and the family farm are in a stressful situation. The ADC review will address whether the original intent of the corporation is being met in a time of changing agricultural financing requirements.

If change is required in what form and direction should it proceed? How can ADC more effectively meet the needs of the Alberta agricultural sector? These are questions posed to farmers and agribusiness. This is your opportunity to express your thoughts and ideas.

One of the public hearings on the ADC review will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall in Drayton Valley.

I would also like to draw your attention to some other upcoming opportunities through this district office of Alberta Agriculture.

Gear-Up Financially. A 12-day course in effective farm financial management, is getting underway. If you are interested contact our office — we may still be able to get you in this year — certainly next year.

The beef producers should be interested in the Beef Production Series we are offering. On Dec. 3 at Carnwood Hall, 7:30 p.m., health topics will be addressed: a brief overview of common diseases, with an emphasis on preventative care and management of both cow-calf and feedlot cattle.

On Dec. 10 at Carnwood Hall the topic will be Beef

Marketing. The presentation from Mick Price of the University of Alberta will include an overall look at the producer-feeder-packer relations. Alternate markets will also be addressed.

Calving is a team effort. In recognition of this we are offering a beef calving and calf care seminar aimed at farm couples. (Carnwood Hall, Dec. 8, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.) The morning will involve hands-on calving basics while in the afternoon advanced calving calf care and reproductive management will be addressed.

These seminars will be of interest and value to all beef producers.

CHILD TAX CREDIT PREPAYMENT PROGRAM

$300 Per Child

If you qualify, your cheque is in the mail.

Who Qualifies?

You'll automatically receive an advance payment of $300 per child if you meet the following conditions:

- Your net family income in 1985 was $15,000 or less.
- You have a dependent child or children who will be under 18 years of age on December 31, 1986.
- You received a child tax credit this year for that child or those children.

Why is the government doing this?

The advance payment, a part of the child tax credit, is designed to assist over 750,000 low-income families with children. Among other things, it will reduce the pressure on these families to discount their child tax credit cheque.

What about the rest of my credit?

To receive the rest of your 1986 child tax credit simply fill out the child tax credit form on your 1986 income tax return. The maximum credit per child is $454.00, up from $384.00 in 1985.

And if I don't qualify for the advance payment?

If you received Family Allowance for a child or children this year, you may still be eligible for a maximum or partial credit. To find out, simply fill out the Child Tax Credit form on your 1986 income tax return.

For more information

See the insert in your November Family Allowance cheque or contact your nearest district taxation office. (The number and address are in the government pages of your telephone book).

Program offers young farmers chance to see world

If you're young, have some farming background and don't have to be any place special in the next year or so, here's a chance to see the world.

Sounds like a sales pitch from someone selling snake oil, but actually it's the basic ingredients for young Alberta farmers interested in an international agricultural exchange program.

If you can meet a few basic requirements and raise enough money to cover what will probably be the least expensive adventure of your life, the International Agricultural Exchange Association (IAEA) would like to hear from you.

The non-profit association was founded in 1963 to provide young men and women between 19 and 28 an opportunity to learn how the rest of the world farms. Participants can work in the areas of agriculture, horticulture or home management and get paid for their efforts too.

You can travel to any of 11 countries around the world and stay anywhere from four to 18 months with a host farm family working their farm, learning their customs and culture.

"It's an excellent opportunity for anyone who wants to experience other parts of the world," says Gille Eyres of Australia, a former trainee herself who recently made a promotional tour of Western Canada.

"There are no gimmicks or catches. Participants or trainees essentially pay their transportation costs at the start and the association takes care of the rest. Trainees are placed in safe, compatible homes and farms and the rest is just experience."

Eyres is originally from Denmark and participated in the IAEA program in 1981 as an around-the-world trainee. She worked as a home management trainee first in New Zealand for six months and then for six months on a farm near Unity, Sask. During her stay in Canada she met her Australian husband who was also participating in the program. She now lives on a sheep farm in Broomfield in the southwest of Western Australia.

Under the program the trainees can select the length of program, the one or two countries they would like to visit and the type of farming operation they would like to work with.

The association handles the match-up, makes all the arrangements, provides trainees with an orientation program and makes periodic checks on the trainee and family to make sure everything is going well. If there is some kind of problem where the two don't click, a different host family will be found.

For further information on the program as either a trainee or as a host family contact the IAEA office at 1211-11 Ave. S.W. Calgary, AB T3C 0M5 or call 244-1814.

Seasoned firewood burns more efficient

Stocking the woodpile in preparation for the cold winter months has become a regular part of life for many Canadian families.

For some, this is a do-it-yourself job. However, most Canadians are not fortunate enough to own or have access to a woodlot, and the demand for dealer-supplied firewood is growing.

Firewood dealers regularly advertise in local newspapers and on community billboards. You might want to ask a wood-burning friend or neighbour to recommend a supplier from past experience.

Early spring is the off-season for dealers, which is one good reason you should buy your firewood then. But there is a more important one. Wood cut in the winter and sold in the spring has had time to dry and season properly. Seasoned firewood burns more efficiently, giving more heat to the house per cord of wood while lessening the potential for dangerous creosote buildup in the chimney. More than half the moisture in freshly cut wood will evaporate over the summer if the wood is split and stored under cover.

If you buy your firewood in the fall, attempt to find wood that has had time to dry in a dealer's yard. Thoroughly air-dried firewood will have open cracks in the end surfaces.

Make sure you know what you're getting when you purchase firewood from a dealer. The common cord measurement for firewood is 1.2 m x 1.2 m x 2.4 m (4' x 4' x 8'). However, other measurements are also used, including "stove cords" and "face cords". A stove or face cord of 40 cm (16 inch) wood is one third of a full cord of 120 cm (48 inch) wood and this can also be called a third cord. The actual solid content of a cord is the most important factor but this is almost impossible to measure. If there are many large air spaces in piled wood, the solid content per cord will be low. When price shopping, make sure you are comparing the same amount of wood.

You should also pay attention to the species of wood you are buying. Although the heat value per kilogram of dry wood is almost the same for all species, the heat value per cord varies greatly. Dense hardwoods, such as maple, oak and ash, are preferable for wood heating and command premium prices. Softer, less dense species, such as poplar and spruce, are much less expensive and are ideal for small, fast fires in the spring and fall.

when high heat output is not needed.

You can reduce the cost of your firewood by purchasing full logs and cutting and splitting them yourself. If you can find a dealer who will supply wood in this form, the savings can be significant.

However, some species, such as elm, are difficult to split. It may be worth while to join forces with friends and neighbours and rent a mechanical splitter for a day.

Play explores learning process

AADAC and Catalyst Theatre have teamed up again on Zeke and the Indoor Plants, which opened in Edmonton Oct. 9 and is presently travelling the province from High Level to Medicine Hat on a nine-week tour.

The play, for junior high students, explores the step-by-step process of learning.

Friday night The Bottom Drawer Teen Club headlines Zeke and the Indoor Plants! The band is good — the band is hot — ...but they've definitely got a few problems.

It's the "roadie's" first night on the job; the lead singer is 15-year-old and her curfew is 9 p.m.; the band leader is so obsessed with becoming a rock star, he'd sell his soul for a recording contract!

What happens when the roadie gets fired? When the singer blows her curfew? When her parents show up and cause a showdown?

The final solution involves teenagers all over Alberta creating rock videos of Zeke and the Indoor Plants songs to enable the band to audition for "Almost Music" without actually being there in person!

One of the most exciting aspects of Zeke and the Indoor Plants is the audience participation. Every time a character runs into a major obstacle they turn to the audience for help. The audience is challenged to think through some complicated situations and to try out possible solutions. They will be examining such issues as "how do we learn?", "how do we gain parental trust?", and "who is responsible and when?"

Following the play, teens will have an opportunity to use the learning steps in a unique way by making a rock video of the play's theme song. Prizes will be given to those who have completed a video. They can also enter their videos in a province-wide contest. The winners will be featured in the teen magazine called Zoot and in the television show Monday Magazine.

Zeke and the Indoor Plants was commissioned by AADAC in response to a great demand from Alberta communities. The play is aimed at junior high school students and focuses on the development of learning skills, peer pressure, responsibility and trust. Ruth Smilie, the artistic director of Catalyst Theatre and an accomplished writer, spent the better part of a year researching and writing the play.

AADAC is pleased to be working with Catalyst again in the creation of this new piece of theatre. The Catalyst/AADAC association is a long one — nine years — and it has produced many excellent pieces of educational theatre: City Sleekers, Strut on Demand, Family Portraits and Talk is Cheap, to name a few.

Zeke and the Indoor Plants will be presented at H.W. Pickup junior high school Dec. 10 and St. Anthony's school Dec. 11. Educational Theatre is one of the innovative resources that AADAC uses in its presentation campaign for youth.

Zeke and the Indoor Plants features performances by David Cassel, Lark Clark, David L. Gordon and Colleen Tillotson. Nicki Theroux is the stage manager. It was directed by Allen MacInnis, associate director of Alberta Theater Projects in Calgary.

Even a 3-inch fall of moderately wet snow on the average home driveway and sidewalk can weigh half a ton. That's like having to throw around a hundred bags of potatoes.

Train accident

Two people remain in an Edmonton hospital after a Datsun truck was hit by a freight train in Entwistle Sunday morning. The male driver and his female passenger, both 16-years-old, had undetermined injuries at press time. The accident happened at about 9:45 a.m. at the west entrance to Entwistle, an area under construction. RCMP are still investigating.

Platz makes trip to Mexico, again

Plans for young cancer sufferer Jamie Platz to meet Terry Fox's mother, Betty, have been put on hold as he returns to Mexico for treatment, said Gail Platz last week.

Jamie, who has been fighting cancer since he was 18-months-old, returned to the Cydel Clinic in Tijuana Monday for special vitamin and diet treatment, said his mother.

The new treatment involves doing "a hair analysis to determine what vitamins are needed," said Gail Platz. "It also involves a natural food diet, Swedish massage and reflexology."

Jamie Platz

This trip is Jamie's second to the clinic. He was also there in May 1985 and must now return for the largely experimental treatment because of the cancer's renewed growth.

The youngster's sight has also been failing since an April 1985 operation to remove part of a tumor behind his right eye.

The loss of sight recently prompted a visit from the CNIB to Elementary B school in Drayton Valley to see what could be set-up to help Jamie continue attending school.

While at school, Jamie was bed-ridden for up to half the day, said his teachers.

Although funds had to be raised through community support for the last trip, Gail Platz said enough money remains in the trust fund to finance this trip.

Death near Cynthia

Equipment failure has been ruled out in a death of a 35-year-old man at a battery site northeast of Cynthia.

Raymond Dunkley, of Cherhill, southeast of Mayerthorpe, was found dead at 7:30 a.m. Friday, according to local RCMP.

RCMP said it appeared the man had died after being overcome by gas fumes.

A company spokesman from Chevron, which owns the battery and plant, said there were "no leaks" and no equipment failure on the site. Investigators from the ERCB (Energy Resources Conservation Board) agreed there was no equipment problems. The man was working at the site as a contractor and was not an employee of Chevron.

Under pressure

Beehive director resigns

The Drayton Valley Developmentally Handicapped Association is looking for a new executive director.

Ron Zinck has submitted his resignation and will be leaving in the new year.

Tom Turner, the board's personal chairman, says he has already received a half-dozen applications for the position. Interviews will be held later this month and Turner expects to hire a replacement for Zinck in January. Zinck will stay on until a new person is hired.

Turner says the board was surprised by Zinck's decision. He said Zinck was under a lot of pressure. The pressure came from four sides — government, the board, staff and parents.

Outlook brochure is unveiled

By Frank Ryan
The Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce new brochure received some glowing reviews last Wednesday.

The 32-page brochure, entitled Outlook, a profile of Drayton Valley, was officially introduced at a supper meeting at the Black Gold Environment Minister Ken Kowalski, Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps, former tourism minister Bob Dowling (representing Joe Clark) and town Councillor Alex Nalvi were present to receive official copies.

The brochure was produced by the chamber's economic development committee.

"This brochure is the only one in existence, put out by a community this size," Dowling told the audience.

"Congratulations to yourselves, this is a good product," Kowalski told the chamber. "I'd like to walk away with more than one copy," he added.

The MLA commended the chamber for their optimism.

Salvi, representing town

"Congratulations, this is a good product."

Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps, Environment Minister Ken Kowalski, and Bob Dowling

council, thanked the chamber for producing the promotional brochure.

In his opening remarks, Joe MacLellan, a member of the economic development committee that worked on the new brochure, told the meeting he already had an offer to purchase all 1,000 copies. MacLellan said later that while the brochure is a hand out, the early demand could see the chamber do another press run.

Chamber president Marjory Prentice acknowledged the work of the economic development committee. The promotional information contained in the book was gathered during the summer by a STEJ student, Karva Landrigan-Adams handled the layout and members of the committee, who worked on the project with MacLellan, included Merv Pasula, Kent Sabine, Councillor Tom McGee, Merv Anderson and Claire Carefoot.

The new brochure, which is available at the chamber of commerce, is designed to provide a concise, factual accounting of economic and demographic information useful to manufacturers, distributors and retailers. Firms considering the Drayton Valley market and those already with here, should find the profile helpful in deciding locational alternative and marketing decisions.

Among those attending the brochure launching was Graham Winter, from Alberta's Economic Development and Trade, Small Business Division.

Highway promotable

Highway 22 could become a key factor in the province's tourism plans.

Environment Minister Ken Kowalski, speaking at a Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce supper meeting last Wednesday, urged the local group to get out and promote Highway 22.

Kowalski told the Drayton Valley audience tourism accounted for $2 million in Alberta this year. In the next 13 years, the province wants to increase that to $10 billion. "We think that's one of the real ways to go," Kowalski explained.

"You should consider contacting all the communities along Highway 22, and get out and promote," the environment minister stated.

Kowalski, who is also the MLA for Barrhead, suggested finding a name for the highway, designing a symbol and taking it to Transportation Minister Al Adair. "I leave that with you as an idea," he added.

Clarence Taal, co chairman of the chamber's tourism committee, reports they have had several discussions on the promotion of Highway 22. Taal says his group have made some initial contacts along the route and have been looking at some 'unique' ideas to promote the highway, that would attract national television coverage.

Taal felt Kowalski's comments were well timed, and stated he was confident the chamber would be involved with it next year.

Another group pushing for some action on Highway 22 is the Evansburg/Entwistle Chamber of Commerce. They plan to approach the Evergreen Tourist Association to push the promotion of the highway from Drayton Valley to Mayerthorpe.

Kowalski would like to see the highway promoted from Mayerthorpe south to Pincher Creek.

Sunny and cool forecast

Sun and cool temperatures dominate this week's forecast for the Drayton Valley area.

Today (Tuesday) it will be mainly sunny with highs near -8 C and a 10 per cent chance of precipitation, according to the forecast issued by the Edmonton weather office.

The extended outlook for Wednesday calls for highs near -5 C and lows at -15 C with a 10 per cent chance of probability of snow.

Under clouds on Thursday the highs will reach -3 C with lows dipping to -12 C and a 30 per cent chance of flurries.

On Friday highs are expected around -4 C with lows reaching -15 C and a 10 per cent chance of snow. Cloudy skies are also called for Friday.

Chamber expands light-up contest

The Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce are expanding their Christmas Light-Up contest this year.

Competition is open to home owners in Drayton Valley and country residents within 10 miles of town. The business section this year has been expanded to include interior decorations.

Country residents and businesses with interior decorations who would like their decorations judged, are asked to call the chamber office (546-3778) by Dec. 18. Judging will be done prior to Christmas.

Jenny and Dwight Kuzek, who live at 4608-56th St. took first place in the residential competition last December with their homemade ice sculptures. First place in the country section went to Marj and Albert Fuhrer while Mobil Oil captured first place in the business category.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the top two finishers in each category.

Clark gets credit from MLA

Yellowhead MP Joe Clark got a 'pat on the back' last week from Environment Minister Ken Kowalski.

Kowalski, who was in Drayton Valley for the launching of the chamber's new promotional brochure, had some strong words for those people who feel Clark spends too much time on worldly affairs, and not in the constituency.

Speaking about the current lumber talks between Canada and the United States Kowalski stated, "We need him (Clark) on the international front, more than we need him here."

"Joe has to play a major role. He has to travel," the provincial minister concluded.

Facts and figures books

Did you know that Drayton Valley retail and service receipts per outlet are 17 per cent higher than the Alberta average for towns between 2,000 and 5,000 people?

Or, did you realize the cumulative payroll for the major oil companies in the area is in excess of $20 million per year?

Those are just two of the statistics you'll find in the Chamber of Commerce new brochure, entitled Outlook.

Our population is expected to be close to 6,000 by 1990 according to statistics in Outlook. And, did you realize that 33.10 per cent of the population was made up of people between 20 and 34 years of age?

Outlook also contains a lot of data on the oil patch. For instance, it says 47.5 per cent of the population is employed directly or indirectly by the oil industry. And, did you know there are 7,892 wells in the area?

Outlook, a 32 page brochure outlining the benefits of Drayton Valley, is available from the Chamber of Commerce office.

Chamber's accomplishments commended

The curtain comes down on a very successful Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce year this Friday.

A new executive will be chosen during a noon luncheon at the DV Hotel.

For president Marty Prentice and his executive it has been a very rewarding year.

The chamber's biggest project continues to be their annual trade fair. They were rewarded this year by crowds of 5,000.

Just last week, the chamber's hard-working economic development committee introduced 'Outlook', a new brochure promoting Drayton Valley. It's indeed an accomplishment for the chamber, as the people behind this brochure are all volunteers. In many communities, full-time staff are hired to do the same job.

The chamber's tourist committee has been one of their most active. Their portfolio has included operating the tourist booth, marketing Riggy (the town's official mascot) and promoting tourism in the area. They are currently working on a new tourist/business directory.

The past year also saw the chamber get involved with the retail merchants, assisting with local promotions and at the same time offering their office and secretarial services.

At Friday's luncheon, the chamber will announce the winner of their new Citizen-of-the-Year award. And later in the month, judging will be carried out for their second annual Christmas light-up contest.

The chamber is a vital part of our community, which is obvious from their impressive list of accomplishments. The executive, who have given their time to make Drayton Valley a better place to live, are to be commended.

These are going to be big boots to fill for the new Chamber of Commerce executive...

Mad-Duck pair cover for paper

It appears that the suggestion to whip up the world's largest cake for Drayton Valley's 30th birthday on Feb. 7th will have to wait.

A check of the Guinness Book of Records '86 edition says the largest cake weighed 81,962 pounds, and was prepared in New Jersey in 1982. The tallest cake measured 65 tiers or 39 feet 11 inches.

While we're on the subject of world records, did you know the largest omelette included 35,000 eggs, that the largest pizza weighed seven tons and the largest sundae was 27,102 pounds. If you'd like to have your name in the Guinness Book of Records, you might want to challenge the baton twirling record which is nine and a half hours or bettering the record of 34 hours for balancing on one foot.

Editor's Notes

Maybe we could convince local piper Joe MacLellan to challenge the 100-hour record for playing the bagpipes. Or, maybe we could talk Wendy Sekura or Danny Thompson into taking a shot at the one-man auction record of 40 hours and seven minutes.

Who is Stacey Orlesky and Gillian

MacLellan and why did they do the story on Joe Clark's recent visit to Drayton Valley?

If you were asking that question after reading their article in last week's issue, let me explain.

Orlesky is the managing editor and MacLellan is the advertising editor with the Frank Maddock high school Mad-Duck Press, the school's monthly newspaper. They accepted the opportunity to meet Joe Clark and cover his visit to Drayton Valley, as five members of The Western Review, including our editorial department, were away attending a company seminar.

They are to be commended for doing an excellent job, just as we thought they would. And, if the occasion ever arises again, we will go to the Mad-Duck Press for their assistance.

Villages may join up

By Gary Legie
Alberta may be getting a new town. That is if the villages of Entwistle and Evansburg get their way.

The two Highway 16 villages are presently only separated by the North Saskatchewan River and have been toying with the idea of joining since last year, said George Richardson an Evansburg councillor on the amalgamation board.

"The original idea of amalgamation was started last year by Entwistle," he said, and at last Tuesday's council meeting Evansburg passed a motion that they are in favor of starting discussions with Entwistle on amalgamation.

Richardson said, "The two villages should amalgamate to have a political (bargaining) position to decide their own futures."

One of their first decisions, should they merge, would be choosing which municipality they want to incorporate in. There is even the possibility the new town would choose to join the new municipal district being set up around Drayton Valley, he said.

They could also join the County of Stony Plain, which now includes Entwistle, or the County of Edson, which presently includes Evansburg.

Any formal merger would have to be approved by Alberta Municipal Affairs, but Richardson doesn't foresee any problems.

"There's a very strong majority that would like to see the town progress," he said.

The Evansburg and area Chamber of Commerce will be contacting Entwistle to get them started on the talks just as quick as possible, and a letter will be drafted at the next Evansburg council meeting to get things going, he said.

New MD is almost a certainty

The formation of a new rural municipality of Drayton Valley now seems a certainty — but Improvement District 14 appears to be in a better bargaining position.

Information made available at a recent advisory council meeting indicated no decision on the size or shape a new municipality will be made until a new study ordered by Alberta Municipal Affairs, along with the ID's incorporation study are completed.

A verbal report stated a ratepayers' meeting with Whitecourt MLA Peter Trychko resulted in Trychko speaking in support of the ID's position against a new county or municipal district being formed from part of ID territory.

Councillors spoke less kindly of West Yellowhead MLA Ian Reid, who they said was difficult to contact. Even so, the advisory council expressed some optimism that their message was getting through to Municipal Affairs Minister Neil Crawford.

Councillor Ken Albrecht urged the advisory council to seek a meeting with the minister to press home their case once the Drayton Valley and ID incorporation study are completed.

A preliminary draft of the ID's incorporation study is expected to be ready for review by councillors attending an improvement district association workshop in Grande Prairie in the near future.

Christmas Rush is expected

Stores in Drayton Valley are gearing up for the annual Christmas rush. In anticipation of their busiest month of the year, Christmas hours that will affect most stores, have been announced.

Starting on Dec. 11, stores will be open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Dec. 13. Most stores are expected to close early Dec. 24.

As part of the annual Christmas shopping campaign, most stores will be open on Sunday, Dec. 21 from noon to 5 p.m.

Four stores - The Bay, Siedmans, Radio Shack and Home Hardware will be open every day until Christmas, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Dec. 6. They will also be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Dec. 13 and noon to 5 p.m. Dec. 21.

Shoppers are urged to check at local stores about their Christmas hours.

1987 funds cut back

Advanced Education are cutting back on grants for the Powerhouse Further Education Council.

As a result, a meeting has been called for Thursday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Country of Parkland building.

It's very important that anyone wishing funding in '87, attend this meeting.

Firemen offer drinkers a lift

The Drayton Valley volunteer fire department will provide their "drive-home" service again this year.

The service, now in its third year, is geared to drive people home from club and company parties.

Although no fare is charged, Fire Chief Sheldon Fuson says donations are accepted. This money goes toward buying equipment for the rescue truck.

Fuson also admits December is the busiest month for the drive-home service, although it is operational year-round.

CRC grant in bank

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association have banked the Community Recreation Cultural (CRC) grant.

Minor hockey president Marti McKinley says she has put the $49,820 into a term deposit. The money is earmarked for a new arena/complex.

Minor hockey applied for the grant on behalf of the town, which is required to match the grant.

McKinley says the money will stay in the term deposit, drawing six-and-a-quarter interest, until such time it is needed.

MLA offers C of C ideas

Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps has given the local Chamber of Commerce a couple of projects for their new executive.

Speaking at the chamber's official launching of their new Outlook brochure last Wednesday, the MLA said she would like to see them consider twinning up with another community.

"This could result in cultural, educational and even student exchanges," the MLA explained.

The MLA also said she would like to see the chamber get involved with community programming through QTV. "It would be a worthwhile project and a benefit to the community," she stated.

Information on the idea of twinning and the oppor-

Joe MacLellan, executive director of the Pembina Educational Consortium, says the idea of community programming was tried here several years ago. A lack of volunteers led to the demise of the project.

Community centre question answered?

What will it be, an arena or community centre? By town council and will be held several meetings with architects, trying to come up with a suitable design. It is their intention to find an affordable design that may include two ice surfaces.

Community Centre Society chairman George Bergquist and his committee have held several meetings with architects, trying to come up with a suitable design. It is their intention to find an affordable design that may include two ice surfaces.

possibly a curling rink, room for the Pembina Educational Consortium and enough space to meet the local demand. Several local groups, such as minor hockey, are supporting the idea of two ice surfaces.

"Get tough" message for parents

Parents have rights, too. But what if children are running or destroying parents' lives through unruly behavior at home and school?

Then "get tough," said Herb Heinemann, director of the local Toughlove chapter. The local chapter was formed in January of 1986 following several calls from people looking for help in dealing with troublesome teenagers, he explained.

Having had previous family problems of their own, Heinemann and his wife had heard of the Toughlove approach years earlier and decided to look "a little closer," he said.

"My wife and I said to ourselves 'Gee, maybe since we have the time and have been through this we should try to get it going here,'" he said.

Although 17 people attended the first meeting back in January the "regulars" have dwindled down to about 10, said Heinemann.

The basic philosophy behind Toughlove is that parents must make a stand and set bottom lines to help solve their problems.

To help set stands and bottom lines the group "brainstorms" and the individual parents pick an idea they like and try it for just one week," explains Heinemann.

If the idea fails a new "tougher" bottom line is set the same way.

"The bottom line is more drastic steps. Getting tougher. That's why it's called Toughlove because we have to get tough to exert our love for the child."

Another basic philosophy is to "allow the kid to suffer the consequences of their actions, even if it means a fine or jail. If it scares them enough the problem is solved; if not, parents don't lose anything by trying," he explained.

"Parents must initiate changes. If the way they're doing it now (raising children) doesn't work why not change?"

Nothing here takes a great brain to figure out, just common everyday things."

For more information call Herb at 542-4175 or attend a Toughlove session Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in room 7, Hallway B at the Frank Maddeck high school.

Blind voting a concern

Despite earlier objections one town councillor ended up "voting blind" last week.

Alex Salfi raised concerns over having to vote on four applications for the library board because he didn't know anything about the applicants. But Salfi's motion to abstain from the vote was defeated and he was forced to vote.

"My reasoning was I wanted more time, a week or so to check the names," he explained to The Western Review.

Salfi said he felt he should be voting for the best person and it was hard to do "voting blind."

But the councillor doesn't think the problem will repeat itself.

"From now on we'll have more notice on what's coming up."

Salfi said he wanted "to vote for the best people" and was not necessarily interested in bringing them before council.

"I didn't like what I was doing," he added about voting blind, in the end.

Uncontested fighter takes gold

Local boy wins silver at Bronze Gloves

One out of two ain't bad. Gerard MacLellan posted a one-win, one-loss record on the weekend on his way to a silver medal at the Alberta Bronze Gloves.

MacLellan, who only trained for two weeks prior to the bouts, won a unanimous decision in his first-ever fight. His first victim was David Fleming of Slave Lake in the 125-pound junior C class.

But MacLellan became the victim in the next fight.

In the final Sunday, the local boxer was knocked down at the 1:22 of the second round by Stuart McGrandie. MacLellan had already took a standing eight count in the first round against the Edmonton Panther club fighter.

MacLellan wasn't the only local boxer competing in the Bronze Gloves, hosted by the Drayton Valley Derrick boxing club.

Carlos Cartwright went uncontested in the 155-pound junior B class to claim the gold medal.

Overall, 90 boxers took to the ring in the two-day, three-event contest featuring 50 bouts at the Rec Plex.

Edmonton's Panther club led the way in medals with five golds, while the Cougar club, also from Edmonton, claimed four. Medicine Hat and the National club out of Calgary took home three gold medals each.

The Panther club added another honor to their collection of five golds when their boxer Brad Hoychuk was named 'Bronze Boy.'

Hoychuk won three fights during the weekend in the 156-pound senior division.

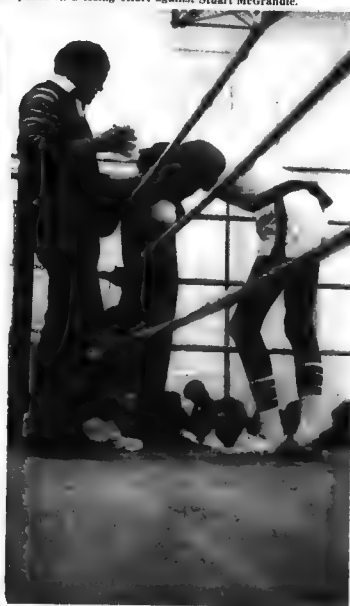

Local organizers were pleased with the event. Derrick club coach Bert Duperon said they would like to thank all those who helped in putting on the event. Duperon also made special mention of the Drayton Valley Elks club who put on a free pancake breakfast for the boxers on Sunday morning.

Losing was hard to take for some of the boxers.

Bob Neufeld would've been impressed. On many occasions, while attending high school in Grande Prairie, I could be found in the gym shooting baskets with Neufeld, the phys. ed. instructor. We'd shoot 10 shots from the foul line, and whoever had the worst record had to buy the milkshakes.

Last Tuesday I returned to the foul line. This time it was at Frank Maddock High, as a participant in their shootathon. We had 10 minutes to shoot, collecting pledges on the number of baskets we hit during the time frame.

Somehow, I managed to sink 76. That should result in about $75 for the FMHS Amazons and Warriors basketball teams, who held the event to raise money for new uniforms.

Counting the pledges collected by reporters Lorne Christensen and Gary Logie, we should have between $150 and $200 for the FMHS basketball teams.

Lynette Taal, coach of the Amazons, followed my performance by hitting 127 baskets in 10 minutes. Taal, who has helped the Black Gold Tigers to back-to-back provincial titles, had people in the FMHS gym standing in awe. She only missed three of her first 30 shots.

Our thanks to the high school for allowing us to be part of the shootathon. It was fun.

And instead of getting a milkshake, the exercise will undoubtedly go a long way toward our Weight Watchers diet.

The 10-game suspension handed out to Paul Staples of the Drayton Valley Devils seems a bit severe.

If the league president is that concerned about what is happening in the Heritage Junior 'B' Hockey League, he should get out and take a serious look at some of the officials. At a recent game in Drayton Valley, one of the linesmen could hardly stand up. And the referee turned the game (between the Devils and Rimby) into a farce, throwing players into the penalty box for the most innocent in franchises.

From what we've seen of the officiating this season, it's easy to understand why the players get so frustrated.

If I had to choose between the CFL and the NFL, I would take the latter.

If you want to watch football, turn anywhere on the dial Sunday afternoon and there's a good selection of NFL games. On the other hand, you can't even see the Western final between Edmonton and B.C. That is, unless you stay up that night and watch the replay.

If the CFL is that concerned about declining interests, they should consider lifting the blackout.

Minor hockey takes stand

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association has taken a tough stand on players not wearing the mandatory neck guards.

President Marti McKinley says kids not wearing the neck guards have been asked to leave the ice. Others have been benched.

McKinley says in one instance, she asked a player to leave the ice because he wasn't wearing the neck guard. He went to the dressing room and returned minutes later, wearing the safety equipment.

Still with minor hockey, McKinley says the matter of parents and other volunteers paying a $2 liability insurance, is resulting in a lot of red tape. The $2 fee is a must, if parents and volunteers are to serve in any capacity, such as scorekeeper, announcer or goal judge.

Fine form

Lynette Taal, coach of the high school girls' basketball team, showed fine form during the Throw-a-thon as she led the way with 127 baskets. Students, coaches, teachers and community members shot baskets for 10 minutes to raise money for new uniforms. The event raised over $1,200 for the school.

Bleachers being built

Sit on it.
An expression the high school is hoping they can put into use when they get new bleachers.

The school applied recently to the town's recreation board for funds to build new bleachers at the school grounds.

The school requested $1,000 from the town towards the bleachers, being built in the school's welding shop, according to principal Al Day.

Day said they are hoping the town will put the request in their next budget.

The recreation board has now recommended to Day to send his request through the Joint Use Committee. The committee helps regulate funds for projects involving the school and the community.

Curling registration 'good'

The numbers look good.

Registration for the 1986-87 curling season at the Drayton Valley curling club looks good, according to club president Bruce Clemmer.

More than 400 curlers are registered to use the facility, including spares for the leagues.

"We have a few odd Sundays and Fridays left," Clemmer said about the extra ice available at the rink. He added they are still hoping to rent the extra ice out to other clubs or organizations.

Registration this year is "within 20 one-way or the other" from last year's numbers. Clemmer says they have curlers from "as far away as Winfield" interested in joining the club.

Club looks to build

The Drayton Valley curling club is looking to build. And they're looking at West Valley Park.

Club president Bruce Clemmer says it would be "the most logical" if they built at the park.

"It would be the most logical thing, a new arena complex and us together," Clemmer explained. Clemmer added the club would be looking at a six- or eight-sheet ice facility.

But for now the club's plans are on hold as they deal with the government on their present land and building. Clemmer said they will be taking their proposal to the government and "see what they offer us."

Junior hockey Devils face cuts

By Lorne Christensen

A few Devils may be on the chopping block. Devil co-coach Preston Yachimec says they probably will be cutting a few players in the coming games.

"We'll go with who comes and plays a better brand of hockey," he explained. The cuts will also reach into the crease, as Yachimec expects them to release one goalie.

"We'll cut one goalie for sure."

Yachimec says they will be staying with the players playing the "fast-skating, fast-paced" style of hockey.

"Other teams are even with us if we don't skate," he added. "Just as long as we play to our potential and not sluff, we'll win."

The loss in Rocky, their first of the season, "helped out a lot," according to Yachimec who says it proved they can be beat.

"We didn't skate well in Rocky or in the first period against Rimbey," he explained.

While some players may be facing the chopping block, others have been pleasant surprises for the Devils' coaching crew.

Yachimec says they are hoping their scoring line (Robin Cockwill, Trent Pankewicz and Chad Allen) can "discipline themselves" and stay away from penalties. He added other teams are already sending guys out to try and get the top-scorers kicked out. Allen and Pankewicz lead the team in points: Allen with 11 goals and 16 assists while Pankewicz has scored seven times and added 14 assists.

Brad Pankewicz is another player Yachimec is looking to for continued success from. "If he plays a full game he helps us out a heck of a lot," Pankewicz was sidelined with a sore shoulder in the loss in Rocky.

Yachimec says Pankewicz's "junior experience", with the Fort Saskatchewan Traders, is an asset to the team.

Assets like Pankewicz in one reason Yachimec is confident the team "shouldn't lose again this season."

"We play like our potential and we shouldn't lose; things weren't just bouncing our way (in the Rocky loss)," he added. "I sort of expected it to catch up on us."

ICE CHIPS: Devils' coaches Preston Yachimec and Connelly Duhamel will have a three-game holiday while sitting out their suspensions. Yachimec was scheduled to miss the three games anyway while he took his vacation to the south. Manager Harvey Allen will handle the behind-the-bench duties...Paul Stables won't see any action for 10 games after being suspended for kicking during a brawl following the Rocky loss. Coach Yachimec says he didn't see the "kick". Stables is playing with the team on weekends and attending school at SAIT in Calgary during the week.

RCMP ready for snowmobilers

Snowmobiles are not above the law.

That's a message local RCMP are trying to get across to enthusiasts of the sport.

In response to complaints from some county residents the RCMP are planning on "increasing their enforcement of laws relating to snowmobiles", according to a prepared release.

Cpl. Tom Turner says snowmobilers are more "a thorn in the side" than a major problem.

"If we get complaints we have Ski-Doo's (to respond)," Turner explained. He added most of the complaints are coming from farmers with crops under the snow. The snowmobiles damage the crops and make it harder to harvest them next spring.

"We don't get a great deal of complaints," Turner explained, adding snowmobiling in town is also against the law.

Snowmobiles also fall under the Off Highway Vehicle Act. Therefore they must be "registered, insured and licensed." The licensees have to be on the front and rear of the machine in plain view.

Bowled over

Strikes and Spares

Dorren Hanzuck had 125 points over average (POA) to lead the Golden Age bowlers for the week. Cleverly Cherynn had 44 POA and 61 POA with Mabel Evers 62 POA. Other golden age bowlers to do well included Lucy Mads at 58 POA, Chester Vig 49 POA, Bernice Hoffa 82 POA and Adolf Wasser at 73 POA.

In the Smurf League Buddy Barker with 52 POA and Bradston Low with 97 POA were named smurfs of the week.

VBC bowlers of the week included Marie Sullivan at 54 and Jason Mizilbrocky at 40 POA for the bastards. Diane Iremza at 52 POA and Steven Crutysak at 89 POA in the junior ranks and Arlene Seep at 80 POA and Trevor Takish at 83 POA for the senior VBC bowlers.

The Hill St. Blues were named the team of the month with Laura Barker, Lorraine Erickson, Olive Hodgkinson, Todd McClean and Ruth Coates at 264 POA.

Ladies' high single went to Gwen Solomon with a 271 in the ladies' league. High triple was a 896 bowled by Toni Yurkewich. Team high single was scored by the Malden Farm with the Hoopies rolling a 3,090 for team high triple. In the mixed league the ladies' high single and triple went to Doris McGuirk with 331 and 768. Men's high single was recorded by Norm Dusterholt at 282 with high triple to Duane Beason at 702. Team high single and triple went to the Outlaws with 1,188 and 3,382 scores.

Ski club to open with snow

Everything is set, but the snow.

The downhill ski club is ready, now all they need is snow.

Last week the club held their general meeting to set fees and hours for the upcoming year.

Al Dumke, returning as club president, says everything will basically be staying the same.

Fees are set at $120 for families, $70 for adults and $50 for students for a season's pass. Daily fees are $7 for adults and $5 for students and children. Dumke says.

The hill, once it gets snow, will stay open from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays with 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. hours on Saturday and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sun days.

Dumke says if they get about a "foot" more snow, they will have enough to go. The warm weather last week reduced any accumulation they had.

Ode to the Clubhouse

Where all times the varied world of sports.
An atmosphere of fitness out of fun.
Exchanging views of who is number one.
On baseball diamonds, rinks or racquet courts.

What rated heart does not beat Sugar Ray.
Or watching Gretzky not anticipate.
With pleasure and another try.
A game is never parked at memory's gate.

Like some sports cannot see-saw powered by words.
They sit discussing who, what, when, why, where.
Established, irrefutable cold truths.
Receive pre-re-evaluation these.

Friends making fun of friends of friends by taunt.
What tasty crab of challenge will they bite.
In different gears the clubhouse patrons cruise.
Vocabulary racing day and night.

Fill out a million forms of where you've been.
Of world arenas passing every test.

Frank Maddock edged out in provincial volleyball finals

So, so close. The Frank Maddock high school's boys' volleyball team came close during weekend provincial play.

The Warriors missed the semi-finals of the two day tournament in Strathmore by just one game.

After dropping the first match of the tournament, against the powerful Lac La Riche team 2-0, Drayton Valley came back to win over Grande Prairie.

Grand Trunk v-ballers fall short for first time in four years

The drive for four came up short.

For the last three years the Grand Trunk high school Grizzlies have won provincial crowns. But this year the boys' volleyball squad had to settle for a silver medal.

The team posted a perfect 3-0 record in the round-robin at the tournament in Devon to lead the tournament.

Then in the semi-finals of the double A tournament

DV Meter Atoms tie and lose in weekend hockey action

By Wendy Schneider DV Meter atoms met with Eckville on Sunday for an exciting match ending in a 6-6 tie.

Travis Brigley led the points for DV with two goals and three assists. Bryson Kuzek added two goals and two assists, Brooker Tralenburg had one goal and two assists. Eric Schneider added a single. Robin Smashuk added one assist and Cole Swendsen played an excellent game contributing three assists.

Getzinger's Rangers run into tough weekend competition

The team tied Red Deer 6-6 behind the two-goal performances of Kevin Dusterhoft and Chris Gray. Gray also added an assist. Other goals came from Steven Street and Kevin

But in Saturday's play they lost both matches by 2-1 counts against Calgary and Brooks.

Coach Al Day added if they had beat Brooks in the last match they would have qualified for the semis.

Brooks ended up facing Taber in the finals of the triple A tournament.

Day described the tournament as "awesome" and added it was an "honor just being a part of it."

they dumped Fairview 16-11 and 15-11. The 16-14 effort was especially pleasing for coach Don Zimmer and his crew after they were down 14-4 at one point.

But in the final it was a different story.

The Grizzlies lost 15-11 and 15-9 to Canmore, a team they beat earlier in the round robin.

"We didn't play as well as we can," Zimmer added about the final.

DV Meter suffered an 11-7 loss to Rocky Mountain House on Saturday. The team made a strong effort throughout the game.

Points were contributed by Bryson Kuzek with three goals and two assists; Travis Brigley with two goals and one assist; Eric Schneider with one goal and one assist and Brooker Tralenburg with one goal.

Staff and management at IGA look on as the new tills are installed.

IGA changes their tills

The Drayton Valley IGA store is going hi-tech.

Last week they installed a new $80,000 cash register system, the "most up to date" system available.

Craig Protsack, general manager of Carrington O'Brien Foods, owners of the local store, says they switched for the customers.

"Service is the main thing," he explained, adding the "down-time" on the other tills was causing problems. The old system was "down quite a lot" and because of "customer feedback" they decided to switch to the new system.

The down-time on the new tills will be almost nothing if their record is any indication. Howard McIntyre, from Horne and Pitfield Foods, says their company has more than 50 of the tills in operation in the province. "We haven't had one minute of down-time in over two years," he added.

The electronic tills are the trend in cash registers according to McIntyre. He says the system can be added onto to accommodate "direct transfer" of funds, an idea catching on in the United States. The system utilizes a "hanking card" so people can directly transfer the funds from their account to the grocery store's account.

A similar project is ongoing in Quebec right now, according to McIntyre.

"It's the most advanced system you can get," he added. Other features which can be added to the system IGA now has, include instant credit card verification and automatic inventory and ordering.

The new cash registers at the store are also equipped to help "stock the shelves" based on movement and profitability of items.

Town's hands are tied regarding businesses

Despite complaints from some local businessmen the town's hands are tied on limiting the numbers of certain businesses.

The issue was raised at a recent council meeting after one councillor was asked about the number of gas bars in town.

"We can't legislate free enterprise," said Councillor Tom McGee who originally raised the problem. McGee said he understood people's concerns but the town can't prevent a business from opening as long as it meets the proper requirements.

Mayor Bob Mayhew echoed similar sentiments.

"We can't control free enterprise," Mayhew said.

"There is nothing I can do and or wish to do," he added about the suggestion on limiting businesses.

"It's not in our jurisdiction or allowed in free enterprise," he explained.

Chamber of Commerce president Marty Prentice said they realize the community has an abundance of some businesses and they are concerned.

"We realize it's a free enterprise system," he added. Councillor McGee said while it isn't possible to limit the number of businesses in town directly, there is another route: "It tough" by using strict bylaws.

"But it isn't up to us," he added. "We have fairly good bylaws in effect now."

Around town

Mall is possible

A strip mall north of the Towers Clinic on 50th Street is still a possibility.

The architect, acting on behalf of an unnamed developer, says there's a few more hurdles to clear before the retail development proceeds.

A block-long area on 44th Avenue and 45th Street has been cleared of bush, to make way for a new residential area.

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association has decided not to hold a skate-a-thon this winter. President Marti McKinley says the group has enough money left over from last year's skate-a-thon. "We hate to go to the people if we don't need it," McKinley stated.

Government planning helps wood prices

The federal government is on the right track in the softwood lumber dispute.

Trade Minister Pat Carney announced recently the federal government would attempt to raise lumber prices 15 per cent. If the American government would drop plans for a 15-per cent tax on Canadian lumber imports.

If accepted, the deal will keep approximately $700 million a year in Canada rather than U.S. tax coffers, and will keep Canadian lumber competitive in American markets.

Part of the Canadian surcharge can be used for reforestation, where our lumber industry has a dismal record. And part of the money can be spun back to consumers, to offset increased lumber costs to Canadian house buyers.

Ms. Carney has the support of lumber unions and nine out of the 10 provinces. (Ontario is the lone holdout, but it has only five per cent of the softwood lumber exports.)

Ms. Carney also says the U.S. Commerce Department will lean on the American lumber industry to accept the deal.

Early reaction from the U.S. lumber lobby is negative, but that's to be expected. The Coalition for Fair Lumber originally sought a surtax of more than 30 per cent on Canadian lumber, and says it still expects to force Canadian prices up "well into the 20s."

The U.S. government should be able to convince them to lay off. Only four lumber states will benefit from increased Canadian prices. The other 46 will not; it will mean higher inflation and higher housing costs for their constituents.

If the legislators let the lumber-state senators and congressmen who won election last month by Canada hashing trumpet the 15 per cent, claim victory, and let it go at that.

If it works, the Canadian plan will not be a victory of high moral principle. It will be a political victory and the federal government should be given credit for its political smarts.

The victory on principle was fought and won four years ago, when the U.S. Commerce Department ruled that Canada does not unfairly subsidize lumber exports.

Four split the bingo jackpot

Four Drayton Valley and area residents will split the $750 jackpot in the Kinsmen newspaper blackout bingo.

The four are Diane Smith, Marg Rupertus, Lillian Wilhelm and Sandy Lokach. They are the winners in game two.

The first 35 numbers in game three are listed in today's paper (see the Kinsmen ad on page A7).

Kinsmen bingo coordinator Todd O'Reilly, says card sales were a little slow last month, but he expects that to increase this month as the bingo money would come in handy around Christmas and New Year's.

Bingo cards are now available at the Poplar Ridge Store and also at the Lodgepole General Store. Later this week they will be available at the Wildwood Confectionery.

The Notebook

By Terry Pon

For this week's County Police Notebook, we will focus on Section 36(1) of the Highways Traffic Act, dealing with identification lamps.

The purpose of this legislation was to update vehicle requirements in order to reduce the risk of accidents on Alberta's roads and highways. It was proclaimed Jan. 1, 1980 and given a grace period to Jan. 1, 1981.

36(1) A motor vehicle that is 2.05 metres (6'9") or more in overall width, including any load, shall, on and after Jan. 1, 1981, be equipped with 3 amber identification lamps on the front of the motor vehicle and 3 red identification lamps on the rear of the motor vehicle.

(2) The lamps referred to in subsection (1) shall be located:

- (a) symmetrically about the motor vehicle centre line in a horizontal row as close as practicable to the top of the vehicle, and
- (b) so that no 2 lamp centres are closer than 0.15 metres (4") or farther apart than 0.3 metres (9").

(3) A trailer that is 2.05 metres or more in overall width, including any load, shall, on and after Jan. 1, 1981, be equipped with 3 red identification lamps on the rear of the trailer that comply with the requirements of subsection (2).

(4) The identification lamps required by subsections (1) and (3) shall:

- (a) be controlled by a circuit that is independent from the circuit that controls the headlights and tail lamps of the motor vehicle or trailer, and
- (b) comply with any other requirements and standards that are prescribed in the regulations.

(5) This section does not apply to a motor vehicle or trailer that was manufactured before Jan. 1, 1971 and was not equipped with the lamps referred to in this section at the time it was manufactured.

(6) Nothing in this section requires a truck tractor to be equipped with rear identification lamps.

Two very common offenders of this section we often come across on general patrol are welding trucks and home-made trailers used for hauling cord wood.

* It should be noted that no specified penalty has been set for this section. Failure to comply is currently a court appearance.

Important tips for picking right charity

How many times have you answered the phone to hear a message which is almost incomprehensible except for the last sentence which is an impassioned plea for money?

How many times have you opened your door to a canvasser who suggests that you contribute to a worthy cause by purchasing a product or making a contribution?

If you choose to give to charity, it can be difficult to select the charity to receive your donation. There are many deserving charitable organizations and there are some charlatans. It is up to you to sort out the good from the bad with a few questions and a few phone calls.

First, make certain that you know to whom you are giving. What is the canvasser's name, and what is the name, address, and telephone number of the charitable organization? What is the purpose of the fund-raising drive? If the canvasser can't explain the purpose of the campaign to your satisfaction, consider that your charitable dollars can be used elsewhere.

Does the organization have a permit from Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs or the local Approving Authority? Under the Public Contributions Act, most organizations which canvass the public must have a permit if they plan to raise more than $1,000 and if they are not just canvassing their own membership. You can check whether the charity has a permit by contacting the local Approving Authority in your area, in Edmonton: 428-9928 or calling the nearest regional office of Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs.

How much money does the charity intend to raise from this fund-raising campaign? How much will be given to the charity and how much will go to administration costs?

A guideline of 42.5 per cent of the gross proceeds going to the charity is used by some of the Approving Authorities and Consumer and Corporate Affairs. If you feel that too much is going to administration costs, consider another charity. You may also want to find out what programs your donations will support and then decide whether or not you believe in them.

Ask whether the charity has hired a professional promoter and how much he is being paid. In Edmonton and Calgary, a guideline of 50 per cent of the gross proceeds going to the charity has been approved by the Charitable Appeals Committee if a professional promoter has been employed. You may want to ask the canvasser if he is a volunteer.

Will you get a tax receipt? Charities that want to enable their donors to use their donations as tax deductions must be registered with the federal government. The receipt the charity provides must have the exemption number on it.

Most of the organizations involved in fund raising are genuine charities but some are not. So take the time to ask a few questions, be careful about giving your name and address to a canvasser, don't fall for any gimmicks, and plan your charitable donations wisely.

Black Gold

Schmidt likes people

Audrey Schmidt knows what it means to move up.

Schmidt started working at the Black Gold Inn about eight years ago when it opened. At that time she cleaned rooms.

Now, the former maid is the assistant manager at the Drayton Valley hotel.

"I worked my way up to janitor and so on down the line," Schmidt says of her job.

Since May, Schmidt has been handling the assistant manager's duties and helping manager Gunther Schmidt (no relation).

"It's very demanding sometimes," she says of her present positions.

"You have to run errands and try to remember everything the manager forgot."

"When there is a problem someone has to be here," she explains.

Her job varies day to day at the 160-room hotel. "You meet a lot of nice people," she adds.

"I like people."

But Schmidt has no thoughts of ever wanting the manager's job.

"I'm not interested in getting into a manager's position. There are too many headaches," she explains.

Outdoor rink

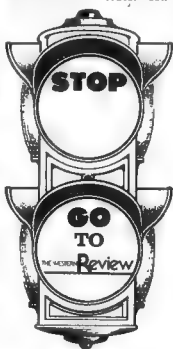

Lights, not boards

The recreation board has decided not to put boards up around the asphalt pad in MacKenzie Park.

Instead, they will send a recommendation to Thursday's council meeting requesting the installation of lights at a cost of $2,300 and build a sand bank rink.

Recreation director Calvin Bonfield says the installation of lights will create year-round use of the area.

Licences needed to cut trees

"Timberrrrr! — but only with a licence, said local forest rangers.

"There are a couple places people can cut their own Christmas trees, but they have to get a licence from us first," said the Lodgepole ranger station.

People cut trees southeast of Lodgepole in Township 47, Range 9 by going into any existing right-of-way. This area, however, is mostly spruce, they said.

People can also cut by the Brazeau/Hudson Bay gas plant and between Cynthia and Easyford in Townships 49, 50 in Range 9 where there's still pine available, but it's becoming depleted, reported the station.

Cutting permits and maps of designated areas can be picked up at local ranger stations.

Wildwood tourism fills vacuum

Smile — you're a tourist attraction.

At least the Evansburg/Entwistle Chamber of Commerce thinks

So much so they've expanded to include the Wildwood area, said chamber president George Richardson.

"Bringing Wildwood into the Evansburg/Entwistle Chamber of Commerce is just to fill a space left from surrounding chambers," he said. "We're not taking anybody's territory, we're just filling a vacuum."

"What we really want to do is develop Highway 22 from Drayton Valley to Mayerthorpe, through Evansburg and the Pembina River Park as a tourist area because we're not cashing in at all on that right now," he said.

Seniors' dinner being planned

Plans for the annual senior citizens' Christmas dinner, hosted by the Royal Purple and to be held Sunday, Dec. 7, are now completed.

This special day is set aside for all seniors of Drayton Valley and district. We look forward to a large turnout and hope the weatherman cooperates to make it a total success.

Both ladies were long time residents in our community and will be sadly missed, but always remembered. Sympathy is extended to the families and friends.

Attorney Jeff Wardlaw was guest speaker at the Nov. 18 general meeting. Wardlaw gave an interesting and informative talk on wills and estates, followed by a question and answer session.

The next general meeting is tonight (Tuesday). A course will be given on fabric framing.

Posters have been placed and an ad will run in the paper giving names and numbers to call for reservations.

The lodge mourns the death of two members — Edna McGuigan, on Oct. 9 and Ileen Disney, on Nov. 23.

Public forum to choose

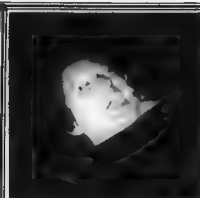

Evansburg and area are going public to solve their ambulance service problems.

Evansburg Councillor George Richardson said at last Tuesday's meeting it was decided to hold a public forum so people could choose which ambulance service they prefer.

Both Drayton Valley and Whitecourt have offered to provide the service, but the councillors decided "to go public and let the people decide which service they want," he said.

No date has yet been announced for the public meeting.

St. Anthony's
Thursday will be advent mass at St. Anthony's. The celebration was scheduled for Nov. 29 but was postponed until this week. Mass begins at 9:30 a.m.

Both junior volleyball teams were in action last weekend in Spruce Grove, while the senior teams await this weekend when they travel to Stony Plain for a tournament.

Elementary B

Christmas songs will be filling the halls at the school this week as they start putting on some of their Christmas concerts.

Also on the Christmas theme is a writing contest. The contest winners will receive lunch with principal Elton Keown and have their winning article published in The Western Review.

Eldorado

There is a general parent association meeting set for Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

The Christmas concert season is starting at Eldorado next week with rooms 4, 10, 21, 22, and both portables giving performances Dec. 10.

The 70-voice Grade 3 choir will also be performing on the 10th, but because of limited space it is asked that only parents with children performing attend the shows.

Tomahawk

The Grade 5, 6 and 9s had a visit from the RCMP's Const. Robitaille last week. He discussed what it was like to be policeman for a living.

Preparations for the school's outdoor rink are underway, but are being hampered by our nice weather lately.

The Grade 7, 8, and 9s have been selling mandarin oranges in an attempt to raise funds and plan to continue into the new year with California oranges and grapes.

Frank Maddock

It's showtime at FMHS this week as the drama club goes with their two one-act plays. The club is presenting Emil's Leap and Shock of His Life. Curtain is 7 p.m. in the FMHS theatre tonight (Tuesday).

And Beauty Culture 32 is putting on a fashion show this Thursday to help finance their trip to a hair competition in California. The local beauties hit the stage at 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

Report cards will be issued Dec. 8 and the school advises parents to ask about them, just in case somebody forgets to show off all those As.

Theatre rocks to comedy act

By Murray Arnold

The Frank Maddock theatre rocked to the comedy of Laughing Stock, an improvisational comedy troupe from Calgary last Wednesday.

In contrast to conventional theatre with sets, costumes and well-rehearsed lines, Laughing Stock delighted the audience with spontaneous comedy that unfolded right before their eyes. With very creative and extremely energetic actors, few costumes and props and a very involved audience, the show couldn't help but succeed.

The actors involved the audience by getting them to suggest stories, skit backgrounds, emotions or characters they wanted to see done. The troupe took the suggestions to the limit and unfolded some very interesting and humorous scenes.

Some of the audience even got to try their hand at improvisational comedy before the night was out. Some showed good acting ability while others just showed their embarrassment to the audience's and troupe's delight.

The funniest part of the show was "Moving Persons." In the skit, two audience members volunteered to move the actors' appendages into any position. The actors, in turn, had to make sense of the positions. The result was an uproariously funny scene as the actors delighted an already howling audience with their witty dialogue and seemingly impossible positions.

From the Johnny Carson style intro to the final skit, Laughing Stock used a tremendous variety of techniques to establish a highly-charged atmosphere. The troupe used expressive emotion, movement and merriment to capture the audience and leave them wanting more. It was a great evening of laughter, fun and relaxation, as well as a fine supplement to theatre in Drayton Valley.

Editor's note: Murray Arnold is a teacher at Frank Maddock high school and is also associated with the school's drama club, which sponsored the show.

VIP's graduate at Elementary B

By Gary Logie

The school year is less than half over, but some Elementary B students have already graduated.

Paul Vickers' Grade 6 class graduated from their Values, Influences and Peers program last Thursday in front of 150 parents.

The VIP program was a trial project initiated by Vickers on his return from Ontario where he learned of it.

It consisted of open discussions run by the class on life values and involved community specialists from various agencies such as AADAC, the RCMP and the justice system.

Since the students ran the discussion they also ran the graduation, explaining "Friends like diamonds precious...but rare" the various topics covered throughout the course and how the class responded in some incidences.

Class vice-president Cathy Stuhl summed up the friendship portion of the program with "true friends are like diamonds, precious...but rare."

The children also made new friends through the course.

One of them was Const. Al Kaufman who ran the project with Vickers.

He said he found it a "rewarding experience" and it was "very refreshing and interesting to see children of this age who have ideas that are so profound."

Vickers echoed Kaufman's comments saying the children's discussions "improved phenomenally" and it was nice to see "just how intelligent they really are."

In closing, the children acted out a court room drama and put Elementary B vice principal Chris Kelly on trial for belittling (one of the course topics) Vickers' basketball prowess.

The play gave the children a chance to show what they learned from the course and entertain the crowd. It was decided Kelly was guilty of saying "My mother-in-law can play basketball better than Mr. Vickers can."

He was sentenced to public apology.

Chris Tromp appeals to the jury in defence of Elementary B vice-principal Chris Kelly, who 'sucks' it up above as he was put on trial for belittling Grade 6 teacher Paul Vickers during VIP graduation last week.

'tis the season

Christmas decorations are lighting up the nights around town lately. This house on 49 B St. was all lit up for the season last week and caught the eye of one of the Western Review photographers.

Dale and Joy Warren peer through a window in their 12-inch thick walls.

West Bank

Comfortable, yet efficient

By Lorne Christensen
Dale and Joy Warren's home is the warm and silent type.

The residents of West Bank acres live in a rather unusual home. The walls are 12 inches thick, while the cement-tiled roof weighs a whopping 22 tons. The floor is heated by hot water lines only six inches apart.

It's all part of being more energy efficient. "You can't hear a thing through the walls," says Joy. The house, built by Dale's brother Keith, is completely sealed from the outside and the cold. The walls consist of a two-by-four wall, a four-inch space filled with insulation, a vapor barrier and another two-by-four wall.

"There is no break to an outside wall," Dale explained. Because of the seal the house holds heat. Dale explains it would take at least five days, with no heat, for the house to cool down to zero from room temperature. "With this system you get a gradual temperature change," he said, adding there is "no sudden drop in temperature" like other homes.

The time factor in the temperature change is also the "only disadvantage" of the system, he said. If the heat is turned down it takes several hours for the change to take effect.

A small furnace, only 30,000 BTU's, heats the entire house. Both the air and water in the house is "pre-heated" before entering the furnace or hot water heater. Once the elements have been warmed to room temperature they are circulated into the furnace and heater, thus reducing the amount of heat needed.

The house has also been built facing southeast to gain maximum exposure from the sun in the winter. A seven foot overhang on the roof prevents the hot summer sun from ever entering the house.

On the roof, cement tiles are in place instead of traditional shingling material. "They cost the same as cedar shakes," he said, adding they are guaranteed for 70 years.

The decision to build the house, which Warrens moved into in September, came as an alternative. Dale said he had been looking at building underground but because of lack of "expertise" on the idea, he went with this design. "It was the best we could come up with."

The house, with no basement, cost $5,000 more than a similar conventional house, according to Warren. "We did it more for comfort than anything else," he added.

Buck Lake

Willows remains as society president

By LeOpal Larson
368-2122
The Legion bingos at Alder Flats have been changed to the second and fourth Tuesdays instead of Mon days.

The annual meeting of the Buck Lake Agricultural Society was held Nov. 20 in the Buck Lake hall. Dan Willows remains as president, Jean Doty as secretary, Vera Brzus, treasurer; Joann Bohning, fair director; Anne Belcourt, bingo director;

Wayne Brzus, curling director.

Rudy Brzus is first vice president; Heather Brzus, second vice-president; Karla Becker, social director and Vera Brzus, hall bookings.

The local fire department held an open house at the fire hall Nov. 15, followed by a dance in the community hall with music by the Alley Cats.

Rudy and Vera Brzus attended the wedding of her niece, Suzanne Pederson to Ben Koersien in the Anglican Church in Ponoka Nov. 22. Wayne and Heather Brzus and Karen and Melvin Becker also attended.

Pearl Schenk, Dorothy, Lara, Luke and Cassie

Willows; Joann and Trent Bohning, Yvonne Miller and Sandi Stewart enjoyed the live theatre presentation,

'Oliver', in Drayton Valley Nov. 21.

The Lions Club held a successful craft sale and tea Nov. 22. Twenty-six tables were filled with baking, sewing, Christmas ornaments, painting, and much more. Thank you is extended to the Buck Lake Ag. Society for donating the hall.

Doug and Mavis Patten held a stock dog training clinic Nov. 22 and 23, for anyone who purchased a pup from them last spring. About 12 owners participated.

Roy Parker won high at the Nov. 19 card party and Fred Drader low. Rose Leroux won ladies' high and Elmer Machorski low.

The senior citizens and ladies' club will hold their annual Christmas supper Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m. All seniors over 50 are welcome. It is pot luck with the most supplied.

Doug and Mavis Patten attended the Canadian Final-Rodeo and Stock Show Nov. 12 to 16.

Town looking for party sponsor

The town is looking for someone to sponsor their annual kids' Halloween party.

Due to increased costs and poor response the past two years, recreation director Calvin Bennetfield says service groups will be approached to take on the project.

Bennetfield says costs this past year totalled $850 including $350 for a magician. Other costs were for candy and food.

Only 163 kids attended this year's Halloween party compared to 188 last year and 300 two years ago. The small turnout this year has been at tributed to the numerous Halloween parties held throughout the area by community organizations.

CSA advises checking for faulty falling ceiling fans

The Canadian Standards Association (CSA) and Regulatory Authorities have become aware of a hazard which may develop over a period of time with some ceiling-mounted fans and have issued a warning to the public of the possible danger.

Several incidents have occurred over the past few months in which the motor and blades of ceiling fans have worked loose and fallen to the floor, with the accompanying risk of damage and personal injury.

Investigation of these incidents revealed that improper installation and assembly has led to excessive vibration and wear on the supporting mechanisms. Modifications to the CSA standard on ceiling-mounted fans have been proposed in order to significantly reduce occurrence of the hazard, which can be eliminated by regular inspection and maintenance.

For existing ceiling fan installation, owners, or those responsible for the operation of the fans, should inspect the installations for signs of vibration or wear in the supporting mechanism. Here's what to do:

- Operate the fan at its highest speed and check for visible vibration.
- With the power turned off, examine the support mechanism for wear by removing the top and bottom bell-shaped covers.

Vehicle encourages participation

By Alan Hobson

For most, it will be just another van they pass on the road. But for a few, it could be the vehicle which starts them on the road to the Olympics.

The Alberta Sport Van is anything but just another colorfully painted box on wheels. It is a promotional tool to be sure, but for those who aspire to excellence, it is far more.

The van, which is being provided by the Alberta Sport Council and Chrysler Canada, begins its third season touring the province this month. It features a variety of presentations, sports equipment, a promotional display, brochures and a public address system and its primary goal is to promote the 10 Olympic winter sports featured at the 1988 Olympic Winter Games in Calgary.

The van encourages Albertans to participate in alpine and cross-country skiing, biathlon (cross-country skiing and rifle marksmanship), ski jumping, nordic combined (ski jumping and cross-country skiing), luge, bobsleigh, figure skating, speed skating and hockey.

"We hope to increase the knowledge, accessibility and visibility of the sports," says Donna Polischuk, 25, one of the van's coordinators. "We want to get everyone actually moving and experiencing them, even if only in a small way."

Polischuk, and her colleague, Wendy McAlpine, will involve Albertans in the sports using a unique, hands-on approach. With the aid of Cool Facts — a new 30-page booklet prepared by the council about the 10 Olympic winter sports — the pair will have spectators simulate skills actually used in the sports.

The van is to visit more than 80 Alberta communities over the next six months. Its journey will take it as far north as Fort McMurray and as far south as the U.S. border, from cities as large as Edmonton and Calgary and as small as Two Hills, Millet and Nampa. In all, Polischuk and McAlpine will probably travel close to 35,000 kilometres, about three times the distance from Vancouver to St. John's.

So next time you pass a van on the road, take a second look. If it's the Albert Sport Van, it's leading Albertans to the Olympic Dream.
